Come to Work

Opening Doors to Talent with Sight Loss

The CNIB Foundation's Come to Work program connects job seekers who are blind or partially sighted with employers who want to discover the full potential of Canada's talent.

To boost participation in the world of work, we are:

- offering job-readiness workshops and technology training;
- partnering with employers to create full-time, part-time and contract work, and paid internships/returnships;
- fostering professional development through innovative mentorships
- and, enhancing company culture to provide a competitive edge.

Together, we're creating a Canada where everyone can come to work!

Join the Talent Pool – All Experience Levels

Whether you're transitioning from school to work, an experienced professional looking for a career change, or someone looking to re-enter the workforce, we invite you to participate.

WORK

Job-readiness opportunities

Come to Work introduces employers to an innovative talent pool of Canadians who are blind or partially sighted and provides job seekers with work experience. If you're looking to jump-start your job search, we can help.

Together, with Vision Loss Rehabilitation Canada, the Come to Work program provides opportunities for talent pool candidates to:

- develop pre-employment planning and job search strategies;
- participate in networking opportunities;
- work with employment agencies to provide resources for job searching, resume writing and interviewing.
- acquire the orientation & mobility and independent living skills to demonstrate confidence and readiness to compete in the workforce;
- attend a series of professional development power sessions with subject matter experts;
- and, take part in technology training sessions to build your confidence with technology.

If you're already registered with an employment agency, we will work with you and the agency to collaborate and provide support.
